DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings filed on 10/02/2000 are acceptable subject to correction of the informalities indicated on the attached "Notice of Draftsperson's Patent Drawing Review," PTO-948. In order to avoid abandonment of this application, correction is required in reply to the Office action. The correction will not be held in abeyance.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2871

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 13-16 and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lien et al. (Lien) (U.S. Patent No. 5,309,264), previously cited.

Lien discloses a liquid crystal display comprising a first insulating substrate (22), a pixel electrode (90) (Fig. 5) formed on the top surface of the first insulating substrate (22), and the pixel electrode having a first opening pattern (91), a second insulating substrate (24) a common electrode (92) the common electrode having a second opening pattern (94 a, 94b), a liquid crystal layer (36) sandwiched between the first substrate and the second substrate. Lien also discloses the first opening pattern and the second opening pattern overlap each other to thereby partition the pixel electrode into a plurality of sub-regions (Col. 5, lines 34-47), each sub region being polygonal in shape with two longest sides proceeding parallel to each other (Fig. 5).

Lien discloses the application of the electric field between the electrodes and the subsequent orientation of the liquid crystal molecules and the formation of multi domains (Col. 3, lines 49-58).

As to the newly added limitations in the claim, it is respectfully pointed out that the claim language is such that the prior art teachings can broadly be interpreted to read on the instant claim. For example: the word 'polygon' is defined according to Merriam Webster's College Dictionary, tenth edition, page 900 as 'a closed plane figure bounded by straight lines'. Hence the figure 5 of Lien is considered to be a polygon. Then the two sides in the two sub-regions, for example, one side pointed towards the northeast direction in the top sub region and the other towards the southwest direction in the bottom sub region, are parallel. In addition, the longest sides in the first sub region can be interpreted to be pointed upwards and the longest side in the second sub region can be interpreted to be pointed downwards and hence having a different direction. Lien also discloses the perpendicular nature of the directions in Figs. 7-9. Lien also discloses first direction slants from a short side (Fig. 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lien.

Lien discloses the opening widths of the first and second patterns to be 5 microns and 10 microns. Note that the range for the widths as disclosed by Lien overlaps the range of 10 –16 micrometers (asserted in claim17). Therefore, the range in claim 17 would have at least been obvious. See In re Malagari, 499 F.2d 197, 182 USPQ 549 (CCPA 1974).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify the Lien et al. LCD device with the widths of 10-16 micrometers to provide a liquid crystal display having high contrast over a wide viewing angle.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 13-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
